Re: George Keller Distribution

Dear Chair and Members of the Board,

Recently, a proposed Plan change on DROP distributions was considered and rejected by the membership. Following that vote, I received a call from an attorney (Robert Klausner) on behalf of Mr. Keller. I explained the background, and explained that the membership had rejected a plan change concerning Charter employees' DROP distributions. Mr. Klausner stated that he believed Mr. Keller could receive his normal retirement benefit, that is, his monthly pension, while still working. Since that time, I have discussed the matter with both Mr. Keller and Mr. Klausner, and knowing that it will come before the Board for a decision, I thought it would be useful for you to set forth the issues involved and the law on this matter.

This subject is complicated, and I understand that this letter is long. Unfortunately, I think that is necessary. To assist you, I have prepared the following Executive Summary.

1. There are provisions of the Plan that require interpretation, and the Board of Trustees has the responsibility to do that. In interpreting the Plan, the Board may conclude, but is not required to conclude, that if Mr. Keller had a separation of employment, he can receive his normal retirement benefit. Under this interpretation, the separation from employment need not be a bona fide separation, which is a separation without a prearrangement for Mr. Keller to return to work with the City. The separation could be short, and prearranged.

2. Whether there was a separation from service is a fact specific inquiry that you may make after hearing all the facts and circumstances concerning Mr. Keller's hiring as City Manager.

There are a number of different rules that regulate when a pension plan can lawfully make a distribution to a member. Some of those rules are important here. I will first discuss those general rules. Then, I will discuss certain exceptions, and then discuss how the rules and exceptions may be applicable here.

General Rules

It is important to start with the general rule. Treas. Reg. §1.401-1(b)(1)(i). provides in part:

General rules. (1)(i)pension plan within the meaning of section 401(a) is a plan established and maintained by an employer primarily to provide systematically for the payment of definitely determinable benefits to his employees over a period of years, usually for life, after retirement. (italics added).

Thus, generally, to maintain its tax qualified status (our plan is tax qualified, and it is important that the plan remain so), a plan must generally provide for payments after retirement.

So, we must consider when does retirement occur? As the IRS has written in Private Letter Ruling ("PLR") 201147038:

Employees who "retire" on one day in order to qualify for a benefit under the Plan, with the explicit understanding between the employee and the employer that they are not separating from service with the employer, are not legitimately retired. Accordingly, because these employees would not actually separate from service and cease performing services for the employer when they

"retire," these "retirements" would not constitute a legitimate basis to allow participants to qualify for early retirement benefits (which are then immediately suspended). Such "retirements" will violate section 401(a) of the Code and result in disqualification of the Plan under section 401(a) of the Code.

(Italics added).

In addition to possible tax disqualification for the plan, there can be tax penalties for individuals who take an early distribution, before age 59½. Mr. Keller is over 59½, so that is not a concern in this particular case.

The IRS adheres to the position that unless a plan allows for an inservice distribution, there must be a bona fide separation of employment in order for an individual to commence their retirement benefit. A bona fide separation is a separation from employment without a prearrangement for the employee to continue working for the employer.

An Important Exception

IRS Code Section 401(a)(36) provides an important exception that allows certain persons to commence their retirement benefits without separating from service (i.e. without retiring):

(36) Distributions during working retirement.—

(A) In general.—

A trust forming part of a pension plan shall not be treated as failing to constitute a qualified trust under this section solely because the plan provides that a distribution may be made from such trust to an employee who has attained age 59½ and who is not separated from employment at the time of such distribution.

Importantly, Code Section 401(a)(36) also has been expanded to allow for an in-service distribution at normal retirement age under the plan (the age at which the member would be eligible to receive an unreduced benefit).

This means that a person can receive an in-service distribution, while still working for the employer in an uninterrupted fashion, but only if the plan provides that a distribution may be made from such trust to an employee who has attained normal retirement age, age 59½ or some later age and who is not separated from employment at the time of such distribution. In other words, there can be an in-service distribution (a distribution to a person who has not retired), if the person is over the required age and the plan so provides.

Now, we must examine our plan and determine if it provides that benefits can be paid while a person is still working. As we previously have discussed, a Plan can allow for an in-service distribution from a DROP account, for the normal retirement benefit, for both, or for neither. I will first discuss the normal retirement benefit. This requires consideration of 33.025 (II) which provides that:

(II) Reemployment after retirement. To the extent permitted under the Internal Revenue Code with regard to in-service distributions, the benefits otherwise payable to a retiree who has retired under the normal retirement provisions of this plan and attained age 62 shall not be discontinued if such retiree is subsequently reemployed by the city.

This raises a question of plan interpretation as to whether this provision ever permits a normal retirement benefit to be distributed without a bona fide separation of employment. If the answer is yes, then we must examine the circumstances under which it is allowed.

This provision was added in 2019 in the tax qualification ordinance. While there were some required provisions in that ordinance, this provision was not required. The Board considered this provision, and decided to recommend to the City Commission the passage of this ordinance, but without the inclusion of (II). I attended the City Commission meeting in January 2019 and spoke against the inclusion of (II). Mr. Weiner did as well, on behalf of AFSCME. There were a number of questions, and a lively discussion. The Commission passed the ordinance on first reading, and asked the City and Union to try to work out their differences. On second reading, in March 2019 Mr. Weiner told the Commission that the differences were resolved and it passed quickly.

Please note that the reemployment after retirement provision does not explicitly use the phrase "bona fide separation". In interpreting a plan document as to whether it allows a benefit to be paid without a bona fide separation of employment, a plan can either implicitly or explicitly permit it. While our plan does not explicitly permit it, we must still examine the meaning of this section to determine if it implicitly permits it.

There must have been a reason for the addition of this provision. The law on interpreting statutes is to determine legislative intent. As the Supreme Court has ruled "legislative intent" is discerned primarily from the text of the statute. Schoeff v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., 232 So. 3d 294, (Fla. 2017). By leaving out the requirement that there should be a bona fide separation, it can reasonably mean that a bona fide separation is not required for individuals who are age 62 or older. It is only where the statutory language is unclear or ambiguous, that Courts apply rules of statutory interpretation to determine legislative intent.

It may be, however, that this provision was added to permit someone who retires with a bona fide separation of employment, and then comes back to work, to continue to receive their benefit. There are some plans that provide that if you leave work even with a bona fide separation, and come back to work, the benefit is suspended. Under the Tax Code, a person can retire without a prearrangement, and then return to work sometime later and still receive the benefit. But if a plan does not contain a suspension of benefit clause, it can mean that the benefit is not suspended. Since our plan does not contain a suspension of benefit clause, this provision may not have been needed in order to mean that the benefits were not suspended. The parties may not have been aware of this. This is a difficult area (as you can see) and there was a concern in the Florida public pension community about payment of benefits to those who were retired, because a South Florida plan had confronted significant expenses in connection with in-service distributions.

This provision may mean that the plan is allowing the benefit to be paid to someone who has had a separation of employment, but not a bona fide separation. The Plan says, "Reemployment after retirement. To the extent permitted under the Internal Revenue Code with regard to in-service distributions, the benefits otherwise payable to a retiree who has retired under the normal retirement provisions of this plan and attained age 62 shall not be discontinued if such retiree is subsequently reemployed by the city." (Italics added). The title is "Reemployment after retirement." It also speaks about benefits not being discontinued, if the retiree is rehired. Both of these phrases may indicate that there had to be some separation of service, even if only at least a nominal separation. Remember, the IRS holds that to retire the employee must actually separate from service and cease performing services for the employer. So, aside from the fact that the plan provision is limited to individuals who have attained age 62, it may require a separation, but it can be interpreted to mean that it does not require a bona fide separation, just a separation.

If the Board accepts that interpretation, it must still find that there was a separation of employment, even if it was not bona fide.

Separation of Employment

In this section, we will discuss the factors that you can consider when determining if Mr. Keller separated from service. It is often said that in Florida, when a person enters DROP, he or she is retired. This notion apparently has its basis in Chapters 175 and 185, applicable to Fire and Police Plans, respectively. §175.32 states, its definition section:

"Deferred Retirement Option Plan" or "DROP" means a local law plan retirement option in which a firefighter may elect to participate. A firefighter may retire for all purposes of the plan and defer receipt of retirement benefits into a DROP account while continuing employment with his or her employer. However, a firefighter who enters the DROP and who is otherwise eligible to participate may not be precluded from participation or continued participation in a supplemental plan in existence on, or created after, March 12, 1999.

Chapter 185.02 contains a similar provision. There is not a similar statutory provision that governs general employee plans. Further, in a case involving the City of Hollywood Police Officers' Retirement System, Simcox v. City of Hollywood Police Officers' Ret. Sys., 988 So. 2d 731at 734-5 (Fla. 4th DCA 2008), the Court held that this definition provision did not change the employment status of a DROP member. Simcox was a forfeiture case in which a police officer claimed that since forfeiture required that the crime be committed prior to retirement, and he was in DROP, he had not committed the offense prior to retirement. The Court disagreed and said:

> We conclude that "retirement" for the purpose of DROP is different and separate from "retirement" as used in section 112.3173. Section 185.02(6),), defines DROP retirement solely for the "purposes of the plan." On the other hand, section 112.3173 [the forfeiture statute] employs the common meaning of the word "retirement." That definition is usually associated with an employee's voluntary termination of his own employment or career. BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY (8th ed. 2004): see also Nehme v. Smithkline Beecham Clinical Labs., Inc., 863 So. 2d 201, 205 (Fla. 2003) ("When necessary, the plain and ordinary meaning of words can be ascertained by reference to a dictionary."). Here, Simcox remained employed as a police officer until he officially resigned in February 22, 2007, months after he committed the federal felony. He therefore was not retired for purposes of section 112.3173.

Additionally, in our Plan, unlike many others, a person can participate in DROP and at the conclusion of their DROP period remain employed. Our Plan does contain the following definition of Retiree: "RETIREE Any member who receives benefits under the provisions of this plan, including DROP participants." This might indicate that a DROP member is a retiree. However, there is also a definition of employee: "EMPLOYEE Any person employed by the city on a full-time basis whose services are compensated in whole or in part by the city, with or without grant funds, including all employees hired on or after the effective date of this subchapter whose services are compensated on a contractual basis..." It may be that, like in Simcox, for all purposes other than the calculation of their retirement benefit, a DROP participant still is an employee. The IRS does not consider entry into DROP to be retirement. Instead, the IRS recognizes that the member is freezing their retirement benefit when they enter DROP and are accruing an additional benefit while participating in DROP. Technical Advice Memorandum 053107A; Technical Advice Memorandum #071907.

As to the circumstances surrounding Mr. Keller's appointment as City Manager, Mr. Keller told me that either he or his representative will speak on his behalf. Here, I will share with you documents and facts that Mr. Keller has shared with me, mostly without comment. I believe that it is appropriate for me to advise you on the law concerning this issue, but there is a factual determination that must be made, and that is entirely your province. I am not a judge of the facts. As Trustees, each of you has that authority. I think it best that you hear from Mr. Keller or from someone on his behalf before I comment.

I attach Mr. Keller's Employment Agreement, and the City Commission Resolution approving it. Note that it says in Paragraph 1 that he is employed pursuant to Article VI, Section 6.02 of the City Charter. Section 6.02 provides in part that the City Manager is appointed by the City Commission, and shall serve at the will of the Commission. As City Manager, the Employment Agreement says that he is an employee of the City of Hollywood. Mr. Keller points out that he went from being a civil service employee to an employee who serves at the will of the City Commission. Mr. Keller has also furnished me with a screen shot of what is said to be from Oracle. It shows his last day as Assistant City Manager as 3/30/23 and that he started work as City Manager the next day. Again, it is for you to determine whether the plan requires that the separation from employment be bona fide or for any particular length of time. I am also furnishing you with his Amended Employment Agreement.

Further, Mr. Keller also has furnished me with Earnings Statements. They are attached, and I believe that many of you will be more adept at reading them than I am. His Employment Agreement provides that the Agreement will be effective on the date of execution by both parties, which appears to be March 28,2023. But Paragraph 1 states that it is effective March 31. Mr. Keller has also furnished me with his oath of office, which shows he took that written oath was taken on May 9, 2023. As I said, Mr. Keller or his representative will make a presentation as to why he believes that these documents, and others which might be submitted, and the facts and circumstances surrounding his becoming City Manager demonstrate that he has a separation from employment.

As to DROP, I thought that matter was resolved until very recently, when I was told it was still to be considered. Regarding DROP, Sec. 33.025 of our plan provides:

(H)(8) Upon termination of a member's participation in the DROP and separation from city employment, the DROP account balance credited to the member shall be distributed to the member under one or a combination of the following options selected by the member in accordance with procedures established by the Board...

Also, (H)(11) provides:

(11) A DROP participant may terminate DROP participation and resign from city employment prior to the end of the maximum DROP period. Upon termination of DROP participation and separation from city employment, a member shall receive a distribution of his/her DROP account balance in accordance with division (H)(8) above, and regular monthly service retirement benefit payments shall thereafter commence. If a DROP participant does not separate from city employment at the end of the maximum DROP period, the DROP account will not be credited with additional interest and the member's monthly retirement benefit will not be paid until the member separates from city employment.

The DROP distribution provisions that existed before the vote and which still exists require a separation from City employment, and, if before the end of the maximum DROP participation period, a resignation. Further, it also provides that when the DROP is distributed, then monthly pension benefits will commence.

The language concerning DROP that was voted on and rejected by ballot would have allowed the Charter employees, to the extent permitted by the Internal Revenue Code and applicable regulations, to receive a DROP distribution at the conclusion of their maximum participation in DROP while still holding their position, if they reached normal retirement age and were at least 59½. It did not directly change the language that the DROP can only be distributed upon termination, but clearly allowed for an in-service distribution from DROP for the Charter Employees. Note that it starts with the language "notwithstanding any provision in the plan to the contrary," the City Manager could receive a DROP distribution while still working. The importance of the language "Notwithstanding any provision of the plan to the contrary", means that the Manager could access his DROP money, even if the Plan otherwise says he cannot.

Will Your Decision Set a Precedent?

Trustees often ask if their decision in a particular matter will set a precedent. As to the first question presented, which is whether the language of the Plan in Section (II), the Reemployment after Retirement Section, requires a bona fide separation of employment. I believe that your answer to that question will be precedent setting. If you decide it does, it must mean the same for all other persons. If you decide it does not, but only requires a nominal separation of employment and not a bona fide separation, that, too, will be precedent setting. Separately, if you determine that it only requires a nominal separation of employment, you will be asked to decide whether the facts and circumstances here constitute that Mr. Keller had a separation of employment. In my view, that decision will not be precedent setting. It is an inquiry specific to the facts and circumstances involving Mr. Keller, and if you have a matter involving a different person, and the facts differ, you will have to look at those facts and determine if there was a separation.

I also want to address whether you will be faced with a mass of people who claim that they have separated. Certainly, this may be true for people who have reached age 62. As a result, I think that will likely require some sort of personnel action, maybe even cooperation, on behalf of the City. Also, if a person is under age 59 ½ and has not had a bona fide separation, it would mean that that there would be an additional 10% early distribution tax penalty to be borne by the participant. This penalty would continue until the person ultimately has a bona separation from service or reaches age 59 ½ (whichever occurs first).

I do want to note that there is support for the proposition that a change in roles does not constitute a separation from service. In Ridenour v. United

States, 3 Cl. CT 128 (1983), the Court of Claims discussed the meaning of separation of employment in the concept of the taxability of a retirement distribution. That case did not involve the qualification of a plan, but only whether a distribution would be taxable to the distributee. In Ridenour, a person was in a retirement plan for employees, and when he was promoted to partner in an accounting firm, he had to exit the employees' retirement plan, which required that the balance be distributed to him. The taxpayer claimed his lump sum distribution was entitled to favorable tax treatment under a particular Section of the Code because it was a lump sum distribution after separation. The Court disagreed. In its ruling, the Court favorably discussed that the IRS has a long-standing interpretation of the phrase, "separation of employment" and said it excludes:

situations in which an employee continues to render services to an employer. In interpreting this phrase, the IRS has consistently focused on the extent to which the obligation to provide services continues, despite changes in the employment relationship. The IRS has ruled that discontinuing of compensation, per se, to an employee officer of a corporation, who continues to provide services, does not constitute a "separation from the service," since "there must be a complete severance of all relationships between the employer and employee." Rev. Rul. 57-115, 1957-1 C.B. 160, 161.

As I said, this was a case involving taxability of a distribution to a member. It does not involve the qualification of a plan. The test that the IRS uses as to separation from service for individual taxation purposes is viewed as more stringent than the test used as for qualification of the plan. This may mean that certain people will not seek their normal retirement benefit, if they are not yet age 59 ½. Regardless, you can consider Ridenour to support that a change in job duties or title does not, in and of itself, result in a separation from service.

Re: George Keller

Dear Trustees:

I have reviewed Mr. Cohen's thoughtful analysis of Mr. Keller's request to receive his monthly annuity while still serving as city manager, following the completion of his DROP participation. After reading the authorities cited in Mr. Cohen's opinion, and my own research, which is outlined below, it is my unequivocal view that Mr. Keller is entitled to receive his pension while remaining as city manager.

The Internal Revenue Code states in Section 401(a)(36) that a plan does not fail to remain qualified by allowing an in-service distribution after age 59 ½ (formerly age 62). Nothing in that section requires a separation from service. The Hollywood General Employees Retirement Plan (City Code Section 33.025, et seq) allows retirees to receive an in-service distribution beginning at age 62. Specifically, 33.025(II) states:

Reemployment after retirement. To the extent permitted under the Internal Revenue Code with regard to in-service distributions, the benefits otherwise payable to a retiree who has retired under the normal retirement provisions of this plan and attained age 62 shall not be discontinued if such retiree is subsequently reemployed by the city.

7080 NORTHWEST 4TH STREET, PLANTATION, FLORIDA 33317 PHONE: (954) 916-1202 – FAX: (954) 916-1232 www.klausnerkaufman.com It is significant that Mr. Keller entered DROP in December 2019. Under the express terms of the City Code, upon entering DROP, a member of the plan becomes a retiree. 33.025(B) states:

RETIREE. Any member who receives benefits under the provisions of this plan, including DROP participants.

When Mr. Keller was appointed City Manager, he was required to resign and relinquish his civil service rights, going from an employee to a City Charter officer, serving at the pleasure of the City Commission. See, Hollywood City Charter, Article VI. In making that transition, Mr. Keller was required, the same as any other retiring employee, to "cash out" all accumulated service. As Mr. Keller was already a retiree upon entry into DROP, he cannot be deemed to have "retired" with a pre-determined rehire.

The fact that Mr. Keller went from being an employee to an officer must take into account for the principal difference between the "officer" and "Employees." For more than a century Florida courts have held that an office implies a delegation of the sovereign power of the state while an employee does not have any prescribed independent authority of a governmental nature. State v. Sheats, 78 Fla. 583, 83 So. 508 (1919), cited with approval in Demings v. Orange County Citizens Review Board, 15 So. 3d 605 (Fla. 5th DCA 2009).

I would also note that Simcox v. City of Hollywood Police Officers' Retirement System, 988 So. 2d 731 (Fla 4th DCA 2008) does not mandate a contrary result to relief requested. Simcox simply recognized that inherent in every public officer or employee's pension "contract" is a requirement that while employed, whether in DROP or not, that the officer or employee provide honorable and honest service. Officer Simcox broke that obligation and as a result his conditional pension contract could never mature. While Mr. Keller is in DROP, the same rule would apply to him. Once DROP ends, however, the member is retired for the purposes of the state law on pension forfeiture. Even post-retirement, if a public officer or employee is later convicted of a crime which occurred while employed, forfeiture would apply. Hames v. City of Miami Firefighters' and Police Officers' Trust, 980 So. 2d 1112 (Fla. 3d DCA 2008).

All of that is irrelevant, however, because this plan allows in-service distribution, and the member has attained age 62. Just as the Internal Revenue Code does not require a separation from service after age 62, Hollywood's plan does not require a separation after age 62. The IRS website summarizing the dizzying array of plan qualification requirements specifically says:

A pension plan may pay benefits to a participant age 62 or older even if the participant has not separated from employment. The rules regarding a plan's youngest permissible normal retirement age have a safe harbor of age 62.

https://www.irs.gov/retirement-plans/retirement-topics-significant-ages-for-retirement-plan-participants#:~:text=Distributions%20from%20qualified%20retirement%20plans,once%20the%20recipient%20turns%2059%C2%BD.&text=A%20pension%20plan%20may%20pay,has%20not%20separated%20from%20employment.

The plain import of 33.025(II) was to allow the employment of retirees and allow them to keep their monthly retirement annuities. Such persons cannot rejoin the plan and by entering DROP in 2019, long before becoming city manager, Mr. Keller's final average compensation was fixed and does not reflect his higher salary as manager. His receipt of his annuity (and his DROP) while remaining as city manager has no actuarial impact of the retirement plan and does not affect the city's contribution rate.

Long-standing Florida law is unequivocal that pension laws should be liberally construed in favor of the intended recipients. Scott v. Williams, 107 So. 3d 379 (Fla. 2013); Board of Trustees v. Town of Lake Park, 966 So. 2d 448 (Fla. 4th DCA 2007); Greene v. Gray, 87 So. 2d 504 (Fla. 1956).

In my view, there is no legal or factual basis to deny Mr. Keller's request.

Respectfully,

/s/ Robert D. Klausner ROBERT D. KLAUSNER
